Just how extensively Columbia will ake up hockey this year depends on whether there is an intercollegiate hockey by games with Pittsburg, Harvard, Michigan Lafayette and Pennsylvania. There isn't much prospect of surcease from the sintest sort of playing, with victories not better than an even chance in at least three of the games.

Not only are Harvard, Penn and Pittsburg all formidable opponents, but there's no telling what Michigan and Lafayette may prove, although Michigan came a cropper last Saturday. The Wolverines play Cornell on November 8 and Penn on November 15. They were beaten on Saturday by the Michigan Aggies, showing probably that they have a long way to come to win from either Cornell or Penn. Yost hasn't the material of former years. "For the first time in his long career," declares a Western critic, the Michigan mentor is confronted with the task of developing a team from methore material. There is not a reliable man on the team, and not a player around whom formations can be built."

The first five or six rounds Ross all the better of the argument, but the last half Smith got some of his bard punches home and floored his opponent twice in the eighth. In the tenth Smith caught Ross with a hard right below the ear and put him out.

James Knocks Out Wolverton. ACRAMENTO, Cal., Oct. 21 .- A fist fight een Bill James, a Portland pitce Manager Harry Wolverton of and Manager Harry Wolverton of the Sacramento club, staged behind the bleachers here to-day just before the chening of the game, ended with James being returned a winner. Wolverton was knocked unconscious by the tall Portisader. To-day's fight, it is said, was the climax of a feud which began when James was with Cleveland and Wolverton was leading the New York Americans. Wolverton, it is said, took offence to-fay at some remarks of James and atlacked him.

Shevlin caught Bruce's kickoff and ran ninety-five yards for a touchdown. As Columbia defeated both Penn and Cornell that year its team was entitled to a high rating. In 1905 Shevlin caught another Columbia kickoff and never stopped until he had crossed the opponent's goal line. On that occasion, however, the ball was called back to Columbia's 25 yard line because there had been holding.
